THE ANALOG ADVANTAGE

Sunday Driver gives you four scenarios to choose from. In game one, you must avoid pedestrians, other cars and obstacles while negotiating corners and trying to beat the clock. In other versions it's winter, and you're driving on ice slicked roads. In game three, it's now nighttime (don't hit the ghosts!). If this sounds too easy, try the 007 option —it's you against them on twisty roads.

Sunday Driver features the largest continuous scrolling screen for the ATARI computers and requires 16K and a joystick controller.

Flying in your helicopter, you discover buried treasure on a high mountain plateau in Tibet. Equipped with explosives, you set out to blast the treasure out. . .But flying overhead is the evil Dr. Muta, determined to keep the treasure buried . . .along with you!

Buried Bucks is a fast-action "daredevil" game requiring 16K & 1 joystick.

On a routine patrol in Saturnian space you come across hostile alien complexes on the surface of Titan. Outnumbered, you must pilot your ship and annihilate cities, military bases, and power cores in the craters of Saturn's largest moon — at the same time defending your fighter against enemy cruisers and planetary assault cruisers!

Requires 16K & 1 joystick.

CARNIVAL® — the official SEGA arcade game gives you all the sounds and excitement of a real live shooting gallery! The fun explodes as bears growl and ducks swoop down to gobble up your bullets! No matter how you play, CARNIVAL® makes you the big shot!

Requires 16K cassette/24K disk and 1 joystick.

The Place: a remote research outpost on an iceworld light years from Earth. Suddenly, the small planet is surrounded by alien life orbs destined to adapt the atmosphere to suit themselves. You take command of your fighter to destroy the aliens before the icemountains melt, spelling certain death for your base! But you didn't know the aliens had help . . .

Requires 24K and a joystick.

DATELINE: February, 1995. You are in command of the US fast attack submarine ORCA. Your mission: to locate five missing atomic warheads from the ocean floor. You must avoid the hostile ships cruising on the surface, helicopters, and mines. Can you survive the crushing depths, magnetic mines, and enemy hunter/killer subs?

Requires 1 joystick and 16K.

It's a dangerous race through a menacing meteor storm, as two players compete against each other in a flight through the cosmos. Zooming comets can appear from nowhere, sending the spacecraft back to their starting points. Other options include Warp Drive, Missiles, and Negative Universe, turning Race In Space into a full spacewar!

Requires 16K & 2 joysticks.

ANALOG SOFTWARE

Programs for the ATARI 400/800

ANALOG ADVENTURE

This adventure game is the ATARI version of the famous Colossal Cave text game. A.N.A.L.O.G. Adventure nearly fills one disk and includes a save game feature, enabling a player to stop a game and resume playing at a later time.

Disk only; Requires 32K.

ANALOG SOFTWARE

Programs for the ATARI 400/800

MOVIE THEMES

This long playing cassette features ten selections from popular films, including all the big recent science fiction favorites.

Requires 8K and the Music Composer cartridge.

ANALOG SOFTWARE

Programs for the ATARI 400/800

THUNDER ISLAND

Somewhere in the South Pacific lies an uncharted island that contains a giant transparent maze — a maze that can be set up to an infinite number of variations. With the aid of a small lantern, you must negotiate the maze — racing against time or another player.

Requires 16K & 2 joysticks.

ALL OF OUR SOFTWARE CARRIES A LIFETIME WARRANTY

THE ANALOG ADVANTAGE

ANALOG

• P.O. BOX 23 • WORCESTER MASS 01603 617-892-3488

ATARI, 400, 800, and Music Composer are trademarks of ATARI, Inc.
CARNIVAL is a ® trademark of SEGA Enterprises, Inc.
Buried Bucks, Crash Dive!, Race In Space, Star Sentry, Sunday Driver, and Titan are trademarks of ANALOG Software, Inc.

© 1982 ANALOG Software